Description

This oval-shaped tumulus is around 25 m long, with the dolmen off-centre to the north. The covering slab (2.70 m by 2.80 m and 0.30 m thick) now rests on the west side of the tumulus. Excavations in the 19th century and more recently have uncovered bones, barbed flint arrowheads and round bone buttons, etc. A second grave (a lined chamber) is included in the mound.
