Description

Aude-based artist Van Binh has created seven monumental sculptures on a variety of themes which are scattered around the circulade in the village of Villemoustaussou. They include a tribute to music with a saxophonist; a work based on staves (the wooden planks used in wine cellars) which evokes the region's role as a winegrower; a 'bird in flight' with birds placed one on top of the other to produce a wave; and a secular tree symbolising contemporary struggles... This is a permanent open-air exhibition which can be visited all year round!
