Yellow Trail Markers

Start at Place du Château in Comigne. Take Rue de la Mairie, then at the fork, take Rue de la Boulangerie toward the stadium.

Once there, pass the sign for the “Sur les Crêtes de l’Alaric” loop, then head due south through the garrigue (low-growing vegetation on limestone soil) until you reach the GR36.

At the fork, turn left toward the “Bouscat” countryside, which you’ll leave on your right, and continue on the GR36 toward Le Signal.

After 2.5 km, turn left through the dwarf holm oaks—their stunted growth is due to exposure to strong winds. Follow the trail as it descends and winds through the pine forest; note the presence of a huge holly tree. Then take the rocky mule trail at the bottom of the Combe de Migère, surrounded by limestone cliffs.

When you reach the vineyards, the trail markers will guide you through the middle of them.

Facing the highway, head back toward Comigne by taking the path to the left.
